

Fall Hat Concepts

The Famous Knox

Silk Plushes

Velours

And, for your special attention—

The New Harem Veil Hats and the Latest Collar and Hat Sets

Imported Face Veils, $1.50 to $5.00

Stinemetz

F St., Cor. 12th

Sole Agent Knox Hats.

PLITT

is at your service when ready to have the painting, papering or upholstery done. High-class workmanship at moderate cost.

Geo. Plitt Co., Inc., 1325 14th St., Phone M. 4224-5

Beautify the Complexion

IN TEN DAYS

Nadinola CREAM

The Unexcelled Beautifier

USED AND ENDORSED BY THOUSANDS

Guaranteed to remove tan, freckles, pimples, liver-spots, etc. Extreme cases twenty days.

Hides pores and closes of impurities. Leaves the skin clear, soft, healthy. Two sizes. Sold by leading toilet counter or mail.

NATIONAL TOILET COMPANY, Paris, Tenn.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do what which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect.

10c and 25c per box. All Druggists.

For Grip

and colds that develop into Pneumonia

You are safe when you take

Father John's Medicine

for your cold and to build new flesh and strength, because it is free from morphine, chloroform, codeine, heroin, or other dangerous drugs.

Take it Today.

Experienced Advertisers Prefer

THE STAR

Of Interest to Women

FALL AND WINTER COAT SUITS.

BY ANNE BITTENHOUSE.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

NEW YORK, October 5, 1918.—The coat suit has been strongly launched by French and American designers. It is a compromise between the one-piece street frock and the jacket suit which demands separate blouses. It has proved very acceptable as far as the season has gone, especially as the coats are long, or as long as redingotes, and give warmth over a thin skirt, for these skirts are often of such thin material that they could not be worn on a chilly day without the protection of a long jacket.

Jenny of Paris is very much for this and the long jacket, put together as a complete whole.

The Colors Used.

One of her favorite colors in this kind of costume is a dull terra cotta, which the buyers in both countries have made much of this season and which is called by various names. The foundation of the color is the terra cotta of a quarter of a century ago. It was then trimmed with black, as it is today, and touched up a bit with gold embroidery done in fine and somewhat tarnished metal threads.

There are combinations in color. Every French designer does not hesitate to use two colors in this costume, and many of them take up the combination of terra cotta and black and bottle green and black in an effort to vary the color scheme of costume this season.

Least spring one of the American designers made a coat of terra cotta mottos over a knife-pleated skirt of black chiffon, which was quite widely copied and well received; but this model does not stand in good favor today because the tendency is to have the coats cut on a long, straight line in front and not cut away at the hips.

Whenever combinations of color come into first fashion the danger of not being well dressed increases, for there are not many women who can be trusted with the task of combining colors in large quantities. Too many of them do it heedlessly, the result being that they can run along the usual path of fashion or prove themselves pioneers in economy and conservatism by putting together two materials and colors they possess.

It is all very well to say that a long coat is fashionable and a light, slim satin or tricolette frock, but every skirt must go with every coat. A costume like this must be as carefully chosen as if it were cut from the same piece of cloth; in fact, more carefully because there is the greater danger of its cutting the figure up into mince-meat.

The Chance for Thin Frocks.

Both America and France introduce frocks that give one a chill to look at in connection with winter weather. These depend on the warmth and stability of a coat to make them comfortable. All women do not quite understand that these thin frocks are introduced because it is expected that two coats will be worn over them; first, there is the fur coat which is to be dropped over the costume when the weather is really cold.

Women in America have found to their sorrow that the thick, comfortable gowns they purchased for the first part of the autumn were handicapped to them in the middle of the winter, for they were not warm enough without coat and yet were too cumbersome or heavy to stand a coat as an outer covering. The dress-makers hope that this introduction of soft, thin materials will smooth out that vexing problem.

The new frock shown in the sketch today is made up from a frock and a coat. The coat itself is of bottle green velours de laine and the little frock is of black satin. The bodice has a plastron of ornamental velvet in front. It is embroidered in green thread, and it takes the place of a waistcoat. It allows the coat to roll backward to the waistline, where it is fastened with one button. There is no belt on the coat, although there is one on the frock. There is a slight flare at the sides of the hem, in order to make a piquant contrast between the jacket and the skirt. There is no trimming whatever on the coat, but the gown is quite a bit ornamental about the neckline, although it is severe at its oblong neckline.

he could help it. It so happened that Billy was engaged in eating a fat trout and so for the time being he actually was quiet.

"Ho, Billy Mink!" called Reddy, not drawing too near lest Billy should think his feast was in danger and should run away. "You are just the fellow I want to see."

"Well, here I am. Look at me all you want to," grunted Billy rather ungraciously between bites. "But don't come any nearer," he added.

Reddy grinned. "I won't," said he. "I won't, although that fish is a great temptation. It's not your fish but some of the fish I want from you, Billy."

"Billy Mink stopped eating long enough to stare at Reddy Fox suspiciously. So, that look of suspicion Reddy chuckled. "It is just a little information," said he. "That is all I want—just a little information. I'm sure you will be willing, quite willing, to give me that."

"That depends on what kind of information you want," retorted Billy with great promptness. "There are some things I wouldn't tell you for anything in the world. If it is information about me or any of my affairs you want you won't get it. Can you tell that right now? Asking me to just waste breath."

Reddy chuckled more than ever. "Just as if I didn't know that, Billy Mink!" he exclaimed. "I wouldn't think of asking you anything personal because I learned long ago that to do a thing like that would be foolish and a waste of time. I have too much respect for your smartness to try a thing like that even if I wanted to."

Billy Mink looked pleased in spite of his efforts to look angry. You know it pleases most folks to be thought smart. "If that is the case what is it you want to know?" asked Billy rather more pleasantly.

"I want to know what kind of food Jerry Muskrat eats," replied Reddy. "I want to know what food he is especially fond of. What does he like to store up for winter? Do you know?"

"Of course I know," replied Billy Mink promptly. "It would be funny if I didn't, seeing as much of him as I do. The thing he is very fond of is muskels or fresh-water clams. What do you want to know for anyway?" Billy looked at Reddy suspiciously.

Swift & Company's Sales of Fresh beef in Washington, D. C., for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 5, 1918, averaged 19.60 cents per pound.—Advertisement.

BY ANNE BITTENHOUSE.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

NEW YORK, October 5, 1918.—The coat suit has been strongly launched by French and American designers. It is a compromise between the one-piece street frock and the jacket suit which demands separate blouses. It has proved very acceptable as far as the season has gone, especially as the coats are long, or as long as redingotes, and give warmth over a thin skirt, for these skirts are often of such thin material that they could not be worn on a chilly day without the protection of a long jacket.

Jenny of Paris is very much for this and the long jacket, put together as a complete whole.

The Colors Used.

One of her favorite colors in this kind of costume is a dull terra cotta, which the buyers in both countries have made much of this season and which is called by various names. The foundation of the color is the terra cotta of a quarter of a century ago. It was then trimmed with black, as it is today, and touched up a bit with gold embroidery done in fine and somewhat tarnished metal threads.

There are combinations in color. Every French designer does not hesitate to use two colors in this costume, and many of them take up the combination of terra cotta and black and bottle green and black in an effort to vary the color scheme of costume this season.

Least spring one of the American designers made a coat of terra cotta mottos over a knife-pleated skirt of black chiffon, which was quite widely copied and well received; but this model does not stand in good favor today because the tendency is to have the coats cut on a long, straight line in front and not cut away at the hips.

Whenever combinations of color come into first fashion the danger of not being well dressed increases, for there are not many women who can be trusted with the task of combining colors in large quantities. Too many of them do it heedlessly, the result being that they can run along the usual path of fashion or prove themselves pioneers in economy and conservatism by putting together two materials and colors they possess.

It is all very well to say that a long coat is fashionable and a light, slim satin or tricolette frock, but every skirt must go with every coat. A costume like this must be as carefully chosen as if it were cut from the same piece of cloth; in fact, more carefully because there is the greater danger of its cutting the figure up into mince-meat.

The Chance for Thin Frocks.

Both America and France introduce frocks that give one a chill to look at in connection with winter weather. These depend on the warmth and stability of a coat to make them comfortable. All women do not quite understand that these thin frocks are introduced because it is expected that two coats will be worn over them; first, there is the fur coat which is to be dropped over the costume when the weather is really cold.

Women in America have found to their sorrow that the thick, comfortable gowns they purchased for the first part of the autumn were handicapped to them in the middle of the winter, for they were not warm enough without coat and yet were too cumbersome or heavy to stand a coat as an outer covering. The dress-makers hope that this introduction of soft, thin materials will smooth out that vexing problem.

The new frock shown in the sketch today is made up from a frock and a coat. The coat itself is of bottle green velours de laine and the little frock is of black satin. The bodice has a plastron of ornamental velvet in front. It is embroidered in green thread, and it takes the place of a waistcoat. It allows the coat to roll backward to the waistline, where it is fastened with one button. There is no belt on the coat, although there is one on the frock. There is a slight flare at the sides of the hem, in order to make a piquant contrast between the jacket and the skirt. There is no trimming whatever on the coat, but the gown is quite a bit ornamental about the neckline, although it is severe at its oblong neckline.

he could help it. It so happened that Billy was engaged in eating a fat trout and so for the time being he actually was quiet.

"Ho, Billy Mink!" called Reddy, not drawing too near lest Billy should think his feast was in danger and should run away. "You are just the fellow I want to see."

"Well, here I am. Look at me all you want to," grunted Billy rather ungraciously between bites. "But don't come any nearer," he added.

Reddy grinned. "I won't," said he. "I won't, although that fish is a great temptation. It's not your fish but some of the fish I want from you, Billy."

"Billy Mink stopped eating long enough to stare at Reddy Fox suspiciously. So, that look of suspicion Reddy chuckled. "It is just a little information," said he. "That is all I want—just a little information. I'm sure you will be willing, quite willing, to give me that."

"That depends on what kind of information you want," retorted Billy with great promptness. "There are some things I wouldn't tell you for anything in the world. If it is information about me or any of my affairs you want you won't get it. Can you tell that right now? Asking me to just waste breath."

Reddy chuckled more than ever. "Just as if I didn't know that, Billy Mink!" he exclaimed. "I wouldn't think of asking you anything personal because I learned long ago that to do a thing like that would be foolish and a waste of time. I have too much respect for your smartness to try a thing like that even if I wanted to."

Billy Mink looked pleased in spite of his efforts to look angry. You know it pleases most folks to be thought smart. "If that is the case what is it you want to know?" asked Billy rather more pleasantly.

"I want to know what kind of food Jerry Muskrat eats," replied Reddy. "I want to know what food he is especially fond of. What does he like to store up for winter? Do you know?"

"Of course I know," replied Billy Mink promptly. "It would be funny if I didn't, seeing as much of him as I do. The thing he is very fond of is muskels or fresh-water clams. What do you want to know for anyway?" Billy looked at Reddy suspiciously.

Swift & Company's Sales of Fresh beef in Washington, D. C., for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 5, 1918, averaged 19.60 cents per pound.—Advertisement.

Every true American citizen will do all they can to bring this war to an early victory for the Allies. To do otherwise they would be nothing less than assassins of their own household.

Woodward & Lothrop

Store Opens 10 A.M. — New York—WASHINGTON—Paris Store Closes 6 P.M.

Women's Practical Clothes for Autumn

DRESSES SUITS COATS

There is great demand for practical clothes, things that can be put on and worn for general purposes, whether it be a suit, coat or dress. Of course, one wants dressy garments as well, but there never was a time when practical clothes were in such demand. Our stock of serviceable Dresses, Suits and Coats is exceptionally good both as to material, color and workmanship.

Jersey and Tricolette Dresses

Jersey is perhaps the most popular as well as most serviceable for practical wear. The soft texture makes it easily developed into almost any style.

Jersey Dresses begin in prices as low as $35.00—for a good-looking model, made on straight lines, with collarless neck, trimmed with braid or effective embroidery.

A pretty combination of tan and navy and tan and burgundy has apron panel effect the upper part of the panel, the belt and tabs on the skirt being of tan; a touch of gold makes the braiding unusually pretty. $42.50.

Tricolettes make a handsome frock in one-piece straight-line effect, with wide girde and fringe trimming. $50.00.

Other styles in tricolette, in navy, black, brown and plum up to $95.00.

Golflex Suits

Are Practical for General Wear

For a Suit to put on right now and wear throughout the season, and excellent model comes in golflex in mixtures of brown and green, copen and tan and midnight mixture. The smart Norfolk style has inverted plaited back with fine tucks at the waist, with patch pockets, $47.50.

Other models in dark and light green, copen, taupe, dark gray, tan, browns, plum and oxford, $34.50 to $59.50.

Serviceable Coat of Polo Cloth

Specially Priced at $35.00 Each

The woman who wants a coat that will be warm and yet not heavy will like these good looking Coats of polo cloth. The shades are the most desirable—brown, taupe, navy, green and khaki. They are well made and full silk lined with fancy striped silk in harmonious colors. These Coats will appeal to the woman who wants a moderate priced serviceable coat.

Other Coats with and without fur trimming ranging in price up to $115.00.

A handsome Coat of chevot comes in navy and brown with Hudson seal collar and shaped back, full silk lined, $55.

Third floor, G street.

Misses' Suits

That Embody the Spirit of Youth

Jaunty Suits—that are in a large assortment of approved Autumn models. Sturdy weaves and mixtures and Oxfords, in smart Norfolk and plain tailored models; ideal for business and general service. Handsome Suits of velour, suede cloth and silvertone, with collars and trimmings of beaver, Hudson seal and other popular furs.

A Wide Range of Prices

Fourth floor, G street.

A World of Lovely Fabrics Awaits Your Selection

In the Silk Department

Here you may revel to your heart's delight without a qualm of conscience, for Uncle Sam could never use these beautiful silks, satins and velvets to clothe his fighting forces. Black and navy are seen in abundance, and so are all the loveliest shades of tan, brown, taupe, burgundy and the beautiful greens and peacock blues and henna that are so popular in combinations.

The newest materials for autumn and winter include:

Phalanx Satin, Quaker Satin, Satin Etoile, Satin Francaise, Satin Brocade, La Jerz Suiting, Metal Brocade, Wash Satin, Satin Charmant, Canton Crepe, Satin Meteor, Radium, Crepe de Chine, Duvelin, Double-faced Satin, Satin Duchess, Taffeta Plaids, Silk Tricolette, Tusah Silk Plaids, Moonglo Meteor, Crepe Meteor, Peppelack Charmeuse, Satin Lunette, Crepe la Jerz, Crepe Georgeite, Moire Velours, Dropstitch Jersey, Colored Dress Plush, Millinery Velvets in colors and black, Colored Corduroy, Chiffon Velvet in colors and black, Colored Velveteen, Black Seal Plush, Kerami Plush and Beaver Silk Plush are much used for stocks and scarfs and trimmings.

Second floor, G street.

With the Price of Linen Sheets Prohibitive War-Time Economy Suggests the Use of

Muslin Sheets and Pillowcases

We are offering a superlative quality of Muslin Sheets and Pillow Cases, made by the Naumkeag Manufacturing Co. of Salem, Mass. to meet the wants and demands of the most critical housewives. Today practically all desirable sizes are in stock for single, three-quarter and double beds, as well as cribs; either with hemmed or hemstitched ends. In our hemstitched goods, all threads are drawn by hand.

The following sizes are now available:

SHEETS
63x99 inches 42x38 1/2 inches
72x99 inches 45x38 1/2 inches
81x99 inches 50x38 1/2 inches
72x108 inches 45x76 1/2 inches
90x99 inches 50x76 1/2 inches
90x108 inches 54x76 1/2 inches

Second floor, G street.

Christmas Handkerchiefs Are Ready

And There Is Good Reason for Not Delaying Their Selection

First of all, just now you will have just as good choice as you could have by waiting until December—perhaps better—because when stocks become depleted now it is becoming more and more difficult to replace them. You can make your choice in a more leisurely manner; furthermore, you are aiding your government in relieving the congestion of late shopping.

Men's All-linen Initial Handkerchiefs, 35c each; 3 for $1.00. Also, 60c and 75c quantities.

Women's All-linen Initial Handkerchiefs, 25c, 35c, and 50c each.

Women's Embroidered Handkerchiefs; prettily embroidered in white and a variety of patterns in colors. 25c each.

Women's All-linen White and Colored Handkerchiefs, 50c each.

Women's White Embroidered Handkerchiefs; 35c each; 3 for $1.00. Also in Colored Embroidered.

Bought greatly in advance, prices are generally less than the prevailing market values would justify.

The newest vells are of tulle, chiffon or chantilly lace.

Fourth floor, G street.

Green Gold Jewelry

Distinctive creations that will appeal to the discriminating in their simple yet exquisite designs and the richness of finish that will give lasting service and providing innumerable suggestions for gifts—for present-day giving, or for the later holiday season, for which selections can now be leisurely made.

Mesh Bags, $175 to $550.

Vanity Cases, $135.

Doraine Vanities, $15 to $70.

Belt Buckles, $16.50 to $25.

Read Necklaces, $18.

Cuff Links, $10.50 to $40.

Bar Pins, $8 to $40.

Pencils, $10 to $25.

Penknives, $9 to $18.

Waldemar Chains, $7 to $24.

Lorgnons, $15 to $25.

Pendants and Lavaliers, $10 to $40.

Link Bracelets, $23 to $45.

Main Floor, F Street.

Gymnasium Bloomers

Of Satene and Serge

The Kenworth Gymnasium Bloomers are made with the Governor Fastener; the self-fitting waist yields readily to the muscles of the wearer when exercising and the bottom of the leg has a self-fitting device much superior to the old style elastic. Made of satene in black, or serge in navy and black, they give splendid service.

Fourth floor, G Street.

Just Received

New Lot Liberty Floor Mops

The New Self-Wringer That Discards Household Drudgery

A one-piece mop and wringer combined, that can be used and cleaned or rinsed by a slight turn of the crank—the hand does not touch it.

While They Last, $1.00 Each

Fifth floor, Eleventh Street.

Blouses for Autumn

For Dress and Sport

Georgette is the dominating material in dressy blouses. Plenty of flesh and pink and suit blouses in navy and other popular colors. Dainty vests of fine mull and lace or a contrasting color in a neutral or pronounced shade.

A pretty new Georgette Waist, in flesh, is tucked in front and trimmed with tiny frills picoté in blue. $7.50.

Pink satin makes an effective trimming for a flesh-colored waist that has a round neck, with a double round collar bound in the satin; the cuffs are bound in the satin also. $11.75.

The New Plaid and Striped Silk Waists are rich in coloring, purple and black, dark and light blue, gray and green and other colors. $5.00 to $5.50 each.

Brown, green or navy satin makes a pretty tailored waist for $7.50 each.

The regulation Service Shirt, such as is worn by Red Cross nurses on duty here and overseas, come in navy blue silk. They are also used by members of the Naval Reserve. $6.75 each.

Waists of Viella Flannel show pretty Roman stripes or old-time calico patterns with a tiny figure. They are ideal for sport wear and also for cool days. $8.75 each.

Third floor, Eleventh street.

We Are Headquarters for

Flags of All Kinds

Flag Dept., Fourth floor.

Handsone Negliges of Silk

Corduroy and Waterfall Velvet